

“Journey into Oil Painting”

2008/2009 Class Supplies List

Please order your supplies in advance. Purchasing online can greatly reduce your cost.

The following list will include all supplies needed for the 2008 class schedule. The only exception is additional paints as each student runs low. The prices below are through my website (www.brandonnixon.com) using Dick Blick. See search terms below each item to use if purchasing through my site from Dick Blick

The class will be using water soluble oil paints as these do not require the expense or toxic dangers of chemical turps as do regular oil paints. These also make cleanup easy as all you need is soap and water. These will be the mandatory paints for this year. Please make sure to get the specific brand and colors.

Please do not bring a white pallet as this will make it difficult to mix the colors

- ¼ inch plywood cut to no smaller than a 12 X 14 rectangle and sealed with spray lacquer or oil based spray polyurethane (Please let this dry for a week prior to class!)
- Clear plexi-glass (acrylic) no smaller than 12 x 14. Please spray the back side with a medium gray automotive primer paint.
- Store bought pallet (preferably wood) or clear plastic (you will need to spray the back with a medium gray automotive primer paint)

Please no white pallets

Please do not bring disposable paper pallets as they are too absorbent!

Easel

Search terms - Easels

Any floor standing easel the will allow the top of the canvas to be about shoulder high while your child is standing. We will be painting, not only in the class room but also, outside so it is important to have a freestanding easel. Preferably the easel will have a built in pallet support (Or if you are handy you can add one to your easel. A simple piece of plywood would suffice.)

If not you will need to have something like a folding TV tray to support you pallet.
